

2021

ANNUAL REPORT

Since the 2018 launch of the Medical Foundation of Nashville, we've been looking towards 2021 as a year of celebration, and we have so much more to celebrate than we knew at the official beginning of our organization, or even last year. Not only did we celebrate 200 years of physicians working together for the greater Nashville area with the Nashville Academy of Medicine in October, but we also celebrated the amazing growth of Project Access Nashville Specialty Care, and the ways in which our organization has expanded to equip patients, support physicians, and promote health in Middle Tennessee.

On the pages of this report, you'll see some impressive evidence of the service and growth of Project Access Nashville Specialty Care and the ways in which the Medical Foundation of Nashville promotes healthy lifestyles and champions health and medical education. While these items are easy to quantify, there are plenty of smaller celebrations that aren't. We hear stories and comments from patients at least weekly of how donated medical care and case management are changing lives through caring relationships. The staff of the Medical Foundation of Nashville work to connect patients with volunteer physicians, support patients with emergency food boxes and other resources, and provide physicians opportunities to gather outside of practice settings and be together without patients waiting to be seen. I couldn't be prouder of the work we've accomplished together in the last year.

As we walk into 2022 together with hope of finding to a new normal, I invite you to join us in our work to empower our community's health. You can volunteer to see charity care patients in your office, or to work alongside the staff in ours, you can donate to support the work, or you can participate in an event for physicians and physicians -in-training. However you choose to engage, I'm looking forward to working with you this year as we keep moving towards healing, equity, and kindness.

Chief Executive Officer

The Medical Foundation of Nashville supports health access through Project Access Nashville Specialty Care Program, which has recently expanded the ways it supports health access. Dilma's story is just one example of how traditional health access and these new expanded options are supporting patients.

Dilma first met her care coordinator after her primary care clinic referred her to PANSC for gynecology. Quickly, Dilma's healthcare team expanded to include a urogynecologist and an ophthalmologist to address her medical needs. With some trust built and her healthcare team assembled, Dilma's care coordinator learned she'd lost her job because of struggles with her vision and numerous medical appointments that reduced her ability to work. Since then, Dilma struggled to purchase food and personal hygiene products, refill medications, and could not buy the glasses she'd need after her upcoming eye surgeries. Her care coordinator referred her to a food bank where Dilma could pick out groceries every other week. Through a partnership with another nonprofit, PANSC provided essentials like toothpaste and hand soap. Dilma received donated glasses with her new prescription through a partnership with a national program. Her care coordinator helped her apply for prescription assistance through two additional partner organizations. When no partnerships were able to provide the eye drops Dilma needed for her eye surgeries, PANSC provided them through its new direct patient services program, which was created to fill in the gaps where no other resources are available.

Dilma relied on her care coordinator for help navigating her healthcare and supporting solutions to her other needs, communicating often and openly after getting to know her. Throughout her conversations with her care coordinator, Dilma stressed her desire to return to work as soon as possible. Dilma's vision is now stable, and her new glasses exactly what she needs. She's been cleared from her procedures and has already started her new job!

CELEBRATING PHYSICIANS

On October 2, 2021, physicians and community members safely gathered together in celebration of physicians spanning 200 years and the history of the Nashville Academy of Medicine. This momentous occasion marked the 200th Anniversary of the Academy and was in benefit of the Medical Foundation of Nashville. Throughout the evening, the leaders of the Academy and Foundation spoke of the resilience of our healthcare community and expressed their gratitude for the leadership physicians in our community have shown through recent crisis. The evening featured a silent auction, dinner, and dancing enjoyed by all.

This year, more than ever, the Medical Foundation of Nashville is proud to work alongside the physicians in Nashville... We are grateful for the diligent, continuing work of physicians who cared for patients during this tumultuous, extraordinary year, and we look forward to working alongside our patients, physicians, and others in the healthcare community as we all work towards healing, equity, and kindness.
