MESSAGE FROM OUR CEO

As with many people, I find the change to a new year an opportunity for reflection on what has passed and what is to come. When I started with NAM just over ten years ago, I didn't imagine just how much the small charitable healthcare program it operated would grow. Even seven years ago when we filed the paperwork to form the Medical Foundation of Nashville, we had big goals and a fabulous team. As a result of a lot of hard work and amazing partners and donors, that small program and the Medical Foundation of Nashville have had phenomenal growth in our service to the health of our community.

I hope you enjoy this look at just how far we've come in the past year, and will reflect with me on what is possible in 2025. Just as we do each year, MFN has some big goals we are pursuing, and our team is excited for the next stage of our growth. We've come a long way since 2018, and there's more work to do. We are looking forward to continuing to adapt and expand as we work towards a healthier Middle Tennessee. You're invited to join us in this work, so together we can accomplish more.

Rebecca Leslie, MBA
Chief Executive Officer

MISSION MOMENT

While MFN and PANSC serve many patients, Julia is special to our team because of the interactions she's had with her care navigator. Julia works to support herself, which has been a struggle. Finally in April, she was diagnosed with sleep apnea, but with the diagnosis came a prescription for an expensive machine to improve her breathing while she sleeps. Given her low income, she didn't have the money to purchase the machine, which was supposed to improve her overall health. Once Julia shared with her care coordinator that the nurse at her volunteer specialist's office had searched for a discount, but even then, she didn't have the $600 needed to purchase the machine she needed, the Project Access Nashville team went to work. The PANSC team reached out to an organization that collects new and used donated machines for redistribution. They had just the machine Julia needed available for donation, but the shipping would need to be paid, and the machine requires an SD card to function properly.

Thanks to funds dedicated to supporting the social determinants of health of patients, PANSC was able to pay for the shipping and purchase the SD card, as even that amount was still unaffordable for Julia. It's been a few weeks since Julia started using her machine, and she reports that it has taken some getting used to, but she's seeing the benefits and feeling much better as a result of using it. She was so surprised and happy that PANSC could find a donated machine and provide the funds to have it shipped and properly working to help her. Julia is just one patient, but there are so many more who have the opportunity to pursue healing because of the work PANSC is able to do with the support of our amazing donors.

If you'd like to join us in helping patients like Julia, read on to see how you can volunteer with the Medical Foundation of Nashville or visit <https://medicalfoundationofnashville.org/volunteer/>

ENSURING EQUITABLE ACCESS TO CARE THROUGHOUT MIDDLE TENNESSEE

Project Access Nashville Specialty Care (PANSC) made significant progress in improving patient outcomes by strengthening collaborations with clinics, volunteer specialists, hospital partners, and community organizations across Middle Tennessee. By continuing to embrace a community-engaged care model, PANSC remains focused on delivering comprehensive and accessible healthcare services to patients.

Throughout 2024, our team worked alongside our partners to coordinate critical specialty care services. Our model is supported by evidence and that shows in the accomplishments we continue to achieve nearly twenty years after our program's founding in 2005.

2024 AT GLANCE: PHYSICIAN WELL-BEING

In collaboration with the Nashville Academy of Medicine, the PROSPER program was launched in 2023. This initiative was developed in response to the increasing levels of burnout reported by physicians across the United States.

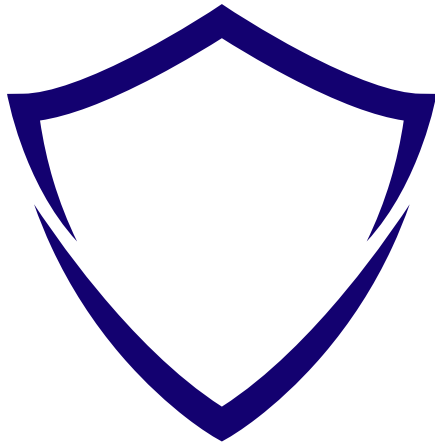

The primary goal of PROSPER is to promote physician well-being. In 2024, we focused on building a comprehensive online library resource center, designed specifically for physicians. In addition, a dedicated section on the foundation's website has been created to provide digital content and media resources, as well as a directory of national resources and organizations.

2024 AT A GLANCE: PUBLIC HEALTH EDUCATION

We remain dedicated to enhancing community well-being by prioritizing public health education. Through a variety of channels—seminars, informational flyers, social media, and personalized outreach—we work to disseminate essential health information to physicians, patients, and the broader community. Our efforts aim to empower individuals with the knowledge needed to make informed decisions, fostering healthier lifestyles and improved overall well-being.

By addressing key public health issues, we contribute to building a community that is not only informed about health matters, but also actively engaged in promoting and maintaining their own health. Together, we strive to cultivate a knowledgeable and resilient Nashville and Middle Tennessee.

Throughout 2024, our public health education program extended resources and education to individuals in our community on a number of relevant public health topics. These topics covered chronic disease prevention and management, vaccine information, resources for mental health and well-being in the community, cancer screening and prevention, healthcare utilization, and more. Additionally, MFN was represented at seven health fairs throughout Middle Tennessee. In 2025, we look forward to expanding the scope of this project as we continue to serve our region.

PHYSICIANS BALL

On October 26, 2024, the Medical Foundation of Nashville hosted the highly anticipated annual Physicians Ball, an event designed to bring together the medical community for an evening of celebration and fundraising. This special occasion provided physicians with a welcome opportunity to connect in a relaxed setting, away from the demands of daily practice, and to honor the contributions of our healthcare professionals.

The evening featured a brief, but delightful program with dinner, a live band, and a silent auction, creating a memorable experience for all in attendance. The event not only fostered camaraderie within the medical community, but also served as a successful fundraising effort in support of the foundation's mission.

For more information about the 2025 Physicians Ball, scheduled for Saturday, October 25, please visit www.medicalfoundationofnashville.org/physiciansball.
